

I have a real problem in allowing already too large companies having more control over what people will see and hear. After living in a country over 3 years where there is one company who controls most of the communication, it makes you appreciate the fact that we live in a country where COMPETITION makes for better service. Please consider this when making this unfair ruling...